

Kids' Digital Lives in CoVID-19 crisis Times (KiDiCoTi)

A comparative mixed-methods study on digital practices, safety and well-being

Coordinated by

European Commission, Joint Research Centre (JRC)

Cyber & Digital Citizens' Security Unit (E.3) - Directorate E - Space, Security and Migration

Contact: JRC-E3-secretariat@ec.europa.eu

Via Enrico Fermi 2749 21027 Ispra, Italy

In collaboration with the following research centres

Country	Research Institute	With the support of
Austria	Paedagogische Hochschule Salzburg Stefan Zweig, Centre of Competencies Media Education and E-Learning University of Salzburg, Dept of Communication
Belgium	Université catholique de Louvain
Croatia	Institute of Social Sciences Ivo Pilar Clinical Hospital Centre Osijek
Denmark	Aarhus University University of Southern Denmark	VELUX Foundation
France	Université Paris Est Créteil (UPEC) Université de Poitiers
Germany	Leibniz-Institut für Medienforschung   Hans-Bredow-Institut (HBI)	UNICEF
Ireland	Dublin City University, The National Anti-Bullying Research and Resource Centre
Italy	Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore di Milano	UNICEF
Lithuania	Kaunas University of Technology
Norway	Norwegian University of Science and Technology, Trondheim SINTEF Department of Media and Communication (+pedagogy/psychology) University of Oslo	UiO:Norden and the "Living the Nordic Model" project. NTNU & the research group NTED (New Technologies and Educational Design Research Group)
Portugal	CECC/CRC-W, Universidade Católica Portuguesa Instituto de Educação, Universidade de Lisboa	NOS [Private Internet and TV service provider]
Romania	Institutul de Sociologie "Dimitrie Cantemir" Christian University, Faculty of Communication Sciences
Slovenia	University Ljubljana, Faculty of Social Sciences
Spain	Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona Universidad Internacional de la Rioja Universidad Autónoma de Madrid
Switzerland	ZHAW Zürcher Hochschule für Angewandte Wissenschaften	Youth and Media - national platform for the promotion of media skills (Federal Social Insurance Office)