Michael Voegele, Team Leader, Directorate-General for Neighbourhood and Enlargement Negotiations, European Commission

Bernhard Fabianek, Horizon Association Unit, Directorate-General for Research and Innovation, European Commission

Smart Specialisation Strategies offer an opportunity for developing new ways of cross-sectoral policymaking not just in their design, but also in their implementation. Governing the implementation and monitoring of Smart Specialisation Strategies in a participatory manner between different quadruple-helix stakeholders is therefore necessary, and the priorities of other policy areas should be aligned with those defined in Smart Specialisation Strategies. Panel participants are invited to give introductions of maximum 5 minutes, which will be followed by approximately 15 minutes of round table discussion and questions from the audience.
